

Minimize risk and maximize value with DatumNexus.

DATUMNEXUS™

A minority-owned MBE certified organization, DatumNexus provides unmatched expertise auditing unstructured documents. No one else has the breadth and depth of expertise examining the intricacies of the impact data accuracy and integration has on your business performance.

With more than 20-years of expertise in the cell tower leasing industry, the DatumNexus team is uniquely qualified to address the risk associated within any industry that depends on information from unstructured documents and the challenges related to its forced, rapid growth through acquisition.

Often, acquiring companies are not able to realize the value of their deal, because of their focus on the integration of technology rather than the accuracy of the data. Our main purpose with auditing the leasing documents is to provide companies with accurate data to ensure they have the correct information to function and work with every day. The outcome enables companies to achieve higher shareholder value through realization of the true value of their investment.

DATUMNEXUS SOLUTION – VALIDATUM™

Validatum™ is designed to identify risk connected to inheriting inaccurate data during the knowledge transfer phase of an acquisition. Using artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML), Validatum verifies source documents, validates information, and identifies the risks in your system of record.

DatumNexus offers a monthly monitoring of your system of records to maintain data integrity.

The combination of complex software and highly trained staff that work in tandem enable DatumNexus to provide a high value solution governed by the Enterprise Risk Management Framework as outlined by COSO.
